David Fowler began his flooring career as an apprentice installer under his step Father in 1997. Over the years he continued to grow his flooring knowledge and installation skills until he started his own installation company that was simply named "Floors by Dave" in 2005. After moving to Las Vegas, NV in 2011 David began installing with subcontractors for Home Depot and Lowes. David began apprenticing as an inspector in March 2017, purchasing Desert Floor Inspections Inc. in April 2018. Since then David has completed over 1000 third-party floor inspections.

David had a passion for flooring as an installer and now as an inspector. As an installer, he received his IVC Certification of Installation in 2008 and later his Laminate I CFI Installer Certification in 2012. David started his inspection education by attending over 250 inspections as an apprentice for Martin Sures and Penny Sures. He also attended the NICFI convention in 2017 and completed an FCITS Hard Surface Inspector Certification in 2017 officially becoming a 3rd party flooring inspector. Besides being a member of NICFI, David is also a member of the WFCA.

David has attended several industry events and continuing education courses in the flooring industry.
